EXPERIENCE

Laurie Reynoldson joined TOK Commercial in 2017, and specializes in office brokerage services. She works primarily with business owners, corporations, tech companies, start-ups, medical providers, law firms and other service providers on site selection, leasing and purchases. Laurie recognizes that space layout, building location, on-site and nearby amenities, and pricing for office space is vitally important to all clients for business growth and talent retention. With this awareness, she approaches each engagement as a trusted consultant, eager to understand the unique requirements and priorities of her clients to locate the perfect spaces for them to grow and succeed in their respective businesses. Laurie's thought leadership is highly valued by clients and peers alike, as is evident in her recent article "Online Shopping is Good for Office Products but not for Office Space", penned for the 2022 CCIM Idaho Member publication.
